At the assembling of the Court on Wedsalay in maing, Mr. Carlists for the governeadmissibility of Mrs. Sickles on hisson. e question was whether adultery could be mitted in evidence in mitigation of the time of murder to the grade of manslaugh-r. Mr. Carlisle proceeded at very great night, quoting numerous authorities and using various questions partinent to the using various questions participant to the sea, thus occupying a great part of the semon. After a brief recess the judge receded to give his decision. The pro-osition he said is to introduce the tatement of a wife to her husband, for and on behalf of her husband. It would inlate all well established principles and talls, trading of the product of the projurious effect on the relation of husband id wife, in destroying their confidential dentity. The proposition is, therefore, opicited.

The confusion of Mrs. Sickles was thus kelleded as testimony in this case, by the aling of the Court, to which the counsel for the defense took exception. Two witnesses there examined, but their testimenty contained a little or nothing of interest or importance, this closed the proceedings of Wednesday. closed the proceedings of We includy.

It is understood that the Government was repared, if Mrs. Sickles' declaration had seen received, to have given in evidence, the ict, that in January last, Mr. Sickles and a ady not his wife, remained for a night at Barnoms Hotel at Baltimore. The Register iet, that in January last. Mr. Sickles and a lay and his wife, remained for a night at Barnums Hotel at Bitimore. The Begister of the Hotel was in Court for that pursons. This preparation shows that, it Judge Trawford had let in the confession, a vast unnity of scandal on both sides, would have seen introduced, involving poreons not meetined in the affeir.

George B. Weeddridge, the first witness alled for the defence on Taurslay, testified as follows;

When I not him next morning about 10 o'clock in the library of his own house, his eyes were bloodshot and red. He told me he had sent for me to come there. His face denoted that ice had been weeping. There was a strange manner about him. He would go any stairs and then come down again, look about and youngarin. Saw Mr. Key twice on that sunday. The second time about a quarter to two o'clock P. Mr. Brady would nest that Key was killed in an act of adultary within the meaning of the law, and that that was proved within the testimony of the presention. They would offer evidence tag on the point of intantry, supporting it on the raings in the case as Day and Jarbae. They offer to prove first that before he me Mr. Key, the latter had used his bradkerchief in front of said house as a signal for her to leave the house to join him to proceed to said house in 15th street.

Mr. Carlise argued against the admissibility of evidence of adultary. He regarded the question s one of exceeding importance to the administration of justice generally.

The Judge's decision on admitting the testimony was as follows: Five propositions are stated as the basis of an offer to prive the fact of adultery in this case and that fact is known by the prisoner. The proposition is not to introduce evidence of adultery as proper under all circumstances, but whether under the existing state of the evidence already given the delense are entitled to adduce further evidence than they have already given visible on holding the paper against the light, the article may be relied on as genuine. The Ointment differs from every other external application in existence, inarmuch as it neutralizes the irritating principle in the fluid and the flesh, and thus puts out the fire of inflammation at the heart, instead of driving in the exterior symptoms. Who never to himself hath said,
"Give me, to wet my doily brend,
A cup of Dewey's Coffee?"

Ah, where in any country town,
Is there a chap of such conown
For doing se exactly brown
The choicest kind of Coffee? What though you call in urgent hasto?
Your precious time don't run to waste,
For while you'r buying—to your raste,
His Clerk grinds out the Cofee.

Perhaps you're badly off for Soap; Or lack good lights, --but navor mope; All that is quite in Dewoy's scope, Ussides the bast of Coffee.

To please the dainty appetite,
He's lots of Cheese—yet not a MILL.—
(The joke is good, but really quite Inferior to his Coffee !)

In other things he wouldn't flag;
But, though he doesn't like to brag.
He witt say he can take the rag
From any modern grocery-wag.
Foa Corres—by the pound or bag.—
Pure, rich, delicious Cofee.
Newly roasted
And ground
